New Field: Person Role

Common Request:

- A field that can classify people according to a list
- Customizable by each Flight Tracker project
- Could be used in creating a cohort (in versions 5.7.1 and higher)
- Configurable by Configure Application page and via Installation scripts

New Field: Person Role

Options for Person Role on the Identifiers form.

This custom field allows for you to specify a role for your trainee within the program. This can be used to form cohorts / filters.

(One per line. Optional. When filled in, it will create an extra field in your project once you update your Data Dictionary on Flight Tracker's Home page.)

Staff
Trainee

Save Settings

- Fill in options/choices that you'd like
- Will create a “dropdown” variable on the Identifiers form
- Again, can be used in creating cohorts (> v5.7.1)

New Fields: Alumni Associations

- Alumni Associations make announcements to their groups
- Announcing big successes gives your program national visibility
- Can also help your scholars gain personal visibility
- Most Alumni Associations use URLs today
- Up to 5 URLs are available on Initial Survey, Follow-up Survey, and Initial Import form

Deep Dive

Organizing Multiple Flight Trackers

Common Questions

“How do I organize multiple Flight Tracker projects on my system?”

“Can I have more than one Flight Tracker?”

– from Flight Tracker admins or REDCap admins

Intentions

- Build around people – i.e., who needs to access & use data – without technology constraining people needs
- Use REDCap to restrict / silo users from other projects
  - Avoid petty jealousies and snooping
- Per-project upper limit: Around 600-700 scholars?
(Unsure – failed at ~3,000 scholars)

Relevant Stakeholders

- Administrators who manage & curate data
- Directors who want to see results / findings
- REDCap Admins who we try not to burden
- Scholars who answer surveys

Talking Together: Goals

- Projects on the same server / institution are on the same team
- Busy scholars do not need to fill out surveys repetitively
- Therefore:
  - Pre-fill surveys aggressively
  - Share “data” among Flight Trackers at same server / institution (on Saturday mornings)
    - Data = REDCap Surveys
    - Data = Publication Wrangling
- Eventually, scholars will be able to see which projects they’re in and access personal data

Vanderbilt Setup

- ~60 projects, from 1-517 scholars
- 4,893 scholars currently
- Pre-docs, post-docs, and departments / centers / colleges
- Biomedically focused, including nursing, educators, and labs
- Much overlap, with many in more than one project
- + 21 “cohort projects” – smaller read-only projects copied from a “normal” Flight Tracker project (more info in later slide...)

Vanderbilt Setup

- I'm a user on all Vanderbilt projects; setup specialist Verna is on many
- Program admins and directors are on individual projects
- Wrangling handled by program admins (Often, wrangling handled on an as-needed basis)
- Verna handles setup and then hands over the "keys"
- I answer questions (local expert)
- Marketing is done by word-of-mouth, including gatherings of admins and directors

Read-Only Cohort Projects

- Requires a REDCap Supertoken from REDCap admin
- Enter supertoken into Configure Application page
- Create cohorts via Cohorts menu → Add/Modify a Cohort page
- Go to Manage Cohorts page & click Create Project button
- Every Monday morning, only the cohort is copied to the project (read-only)
- Therefore, can restrict access to only a subset of people (directors of a sub-grant, division chiefs, etc.)

See April 2023 video for more details!

6-Step Action Plan

1. Figure out your people needs
2. Don't worry about overlap – you're on the same team
3. Let automation help you
4. Don't get too big (< 600-700 scholars)
5. Consider cohort projects – separate wrangling from seeing data
6. Talk about Flight Tracker (ask me for lapel pins!)

Scholar Portal

We're working on a new way for scholars to access personal data.
